Foreward

In today's world of rapid change and growing complexity, strategic management is more important than ever. With optimism and renewed purpose, I present this reflection on the Institute of Strategic Management of Nigeria (Chartered) and our 2026 training programmes.

Over the years, the Institute has become a respected professional authority committed to developing strategic thinkers, ethical leaders, and transformational change agents. Our progress reflects sustained impact through stronger standards, wider reach, and leadership development for uncertain times.

As we look ahead to 2026, our training programmes are boldly positioned to respond to the realities of the 21st-century leadership landscape. They are designed to inspire innovation, build resilience, and empower leaders at all levels to translate vision into results. Anchored in global best practices and contextual insight, these programmes reflect our belief that sustainable success is driven by informed strategy, inclusive leadership, and disciplined execution.

The Institute remains committed to developing leaders who do not merely respond to change, but shape the future. I commend our members, partners, facilitators, and stakeholders for their continued trust and support. Together, we remain committed to advancing strategic management excellence and building leaders who can navigate uncertainty, drive transformation, and create enduring value towards organizational and national development.
